The Conference is part of the annual "Design in the City" event, which is held in Tirana, Albania, by the Department of Architecture, Faculty of Engineering and Architecture, University Metropolitan Tirana since 2022. It displays the vibrant design scene and promotes creativity within urban spaces. This event typically takes place over several days and features a variety of activities, exhibitions, workshops, and installations.

The primary aim of "Design in the City" is to highlight the importance of design in urban development and to engage students, the local community, and visitors in exploring innovative ideas related to architecture, urban planning, art, and sustainable development. It includes workshops and lectures led by local and international designers, architects, and artists. These sessions provide opportunities for learning and skill development, covering topics such as urban design, sustainable architecture, digital innovation, parametric design, and art installations. Participants engage directly with experts, exchanging ideas and gaining insights into the latest trends in design.

Another highlight of the event is the promotion of scientific research in the fields of architecture, urban design and building construction. This year "Design in the City" offers a venue where architects, engineers, and urban planners can introduce their research. The conference is organized by IKSAD on the premises of UMT at 16-18 May 2025. The main conference themes are Arts & Multidisciplinary Studies, Humanities & Social Sciences and Health & Applied Sciences. Within the "Design in the City" track the special emphasis is given to the fields of Architecture and Urban Design, Building Construction and Engineering, GIS, Digital Design and Smart Cities.

International European Conference On Interdisciplinary Scientific Research encourages the study process for local students and fosters connections between researchers from different countries, serves as a platform for cultural enrichment, community engagement, and dialogue on the role of design in shaping modern cities. By bringing together artists, designers, researchers, enthusiasts, and the public, the event contributes to Tirana's reputation as a dynamic and evolving creative hub.
